Hi Everyone,

Sharing this exciting position, feel free to forward! NCID has worked with the Wallace House the last couple of years and they are doing some exciting work! This position will also provide an opportunity to connect with journalists and media across the nation and I'll also note that Lynette Clemetson, the director, is amazing!

MARKETING AND ENGAGEMENT ASSOCIATE

Wallace House is working to deepen public engagement and extend its reach to broader, more diverse audiences. As home to the Knight-Wallace Fellowships for Journalists, the Livingston Awards for Young Journalists and the Wallace House Presents event series, Wallace House advances the vital role of journalism in an informed and engaged society. To help us meet our potential, we are looking for a Marketing and Engagement Associate to provide administrative and strategic assistance related to planning and execution for Wallace House activities and events. Primary duties include collaborative communications and marketing for “Wallace House Presents” events; audience engagement and communications; developing and maintaining relationships with program supporters and audiences; alumni communications and engagement; communications and coordination support for speakers, seminars and activities; and providing hosting support for Wallace House activities. The job is 32 hours a week with benefits, with the potential to extend to full time as the role develops.

We acknowledge that the University of Michigan, named for Michigami, the world's largest freshwater system and located in the Huron River watershed, was formed and has grown through connections with the land stewarded by Niswi Ishkodewan Anishinaabeg--the Three Fires People, who are the Ojibwe, Odawa, and Potawatomi--along with their neighbors the Seneca, Delaware, Shawnee, and Wyandot nations.
