Greetings IWG!

It's that time of year again - we're already gearing up for Arab Heritage Month! This year, MESA is hiring a paid undergraduate student coordinator to help lead the committee! The applications are open now until October 17 (see below for additional information). We encourage you to apply and share widely!

For students, faculty and staff alike interested in participating in the committee (separate from the paid position), MESA will do an open call in the next few weeks. Stay tuned!

I also want to take a moment to introduce Teresa Vazquez (vazquezt@umich.edu), who is our fabulous MESA intern working alongside me for Arab Heritage Month this year.

Teresa and I can't wait to start planning!

MESA is hiring a Student Coordinator for Arab Heritage Month!
Planning begins in late October to prepare for celebrating Arab Heritage Month on campus in March & April

Join MESA student staff and help build community and celebrate Arab Heritage Month through culture, stories, and celebration. In this role, you will lead committee meetings, recruit students, faculty and staff, and help plan events for our celebration of Arab Heritage Month! Please note that Arab Heritage Month celebrates the experiences and contributions of not only the Arab Community, but is inclusive of the broader diaspora including Middle Eastern and North African experiences. Please click here to apply to this paid position by October 17th. If you have any questions or concerns, please reach out to our Graduate Intern Teresa Vazquez (vazquezt@umich.edu).

Heritage months serve as pathways to celebrate cultural traditions, highlight the strength of our complex experiences across racial identities, and create engagement opportunities to expand how we understand race and ethnicity.

Here is an opportunity if any of you Doves or Dovelets are looking to get involved! The MESA office is a great place to work and begin to build a network on campus! Also its a job that will look really good on a resume if you're looking for one, and it will provide you with a lot of development as you facilitate a committee of people!

If any of you apply let me know so I can shamelessly plug you!
