ProEnglish

As your constituent I urge you to vote NO on H.R. 900, the misnamed Puerto Rico Democracy Act of 2007.

If H.R. 900 passes, it will put Spanish-speaking Puerto Rico on track to become our 51st state and lead to our country being divided, instead of united, by language.

This bill does not have any provision requiring Puerto Rico to adopt English as the language of its government, which I believe must be a prerequisite for any outside entity to become a state, and blatantly (and undemocratically) rigs the election process in favor of statehood.

Sincerely,

W. Benj. F. Rogers Jr.
