President's Bicentennial Colloquium

The Evolving Bargain Between Research Universities and Society

1:30 – 3:30 p.m. • Hill Auditorium

Reception to follow

President Mark Schlissel will host the leaders of some of the world's most prestigious educational institutions – the Board of the Tanner Lectures on Human Values – in a public discussion examining the current and future compact between the university and society. President Emerita Ruth Simmons of Brown University will moderate. The event is free, with a ticket required (bicentennial.umich.edu).

Tuesday, June 27

MStaff200 Festival

11:30 a.m. – 5:30 p.m. • The Diag and Ingalls Mall

U-M staff will be celebrated with exhibits, live performances, and staff-curated tent displays highlighting contributions to campus operations through the decades — and looking to the future. The festival will also include giveaways, light refreshments, and a photo booth/selfie station.

Bicentennial Book Station

11:30 a.m. – 5:30 p.m. • The Diag

Faculty and staff will receive the book, "Always Leading, Forever Valiant," an engaging look at the history of the University of Michigan on its 200th birthday. Current employees are eligible for one complimentary copy with their Mcard. Books also will be for sale at a discounted price by the University of Michigan Press.

Ann Arbor Summer Festival

5:30 – 11:30 p.m. • Ingalls Mall

The annual town-gown performing arts celebration is highlighting the bicentennial with Australia's Strange Fruit, famous for its beautifully costumed, choreographed dancers dipping and bowing above the crowd on elevated poles. In addition to Strange Fruit performances (5:55 p.m. and 7:55 p.m.), the evening will feature live music, a KidZone and the movie "Men in Black." The events are free.

With additional performances and Ann Arbor Summer Festival bicentennial activities on June 28 and 29.
